Notice Regarding Payment for Order Flow and Order Routing Information

In accordance with SEC customer disclosure rules, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated (“Merrill Lynch”) is required to inform you that it does not receive payment for order flow from market centers to which Merrill Lynch routes its customer orders in cash equity securities.

We handle your order so as to obtain a competitive execution price and we regularly monitor the quality of our executions. SEC regulations require that Merrill Lynch disclose the market centers to which we route customer orders for equity securities, as well as the material aspects of our relationships with those market centers. For both exchange listed and over the counter equity transactions, Merrill Lynch trading desks are market making desks and may be one of those market centers or venues where customer orders may be routed for execution. If an order is executed with a Merrill Lynch equity trading desk, the trade confirmation will indicate that Merrill Lynch executed such order in a principal capacity. If you would like a written copy of this information, or information concerning where your individual orders were routed and executed, please contact your Merrill Lynch representative. Our order routing information is updated quarterly and is also available on the Internet at www.ml.com/legal_info.htm.

Please note: Orders placed through any automatic telephone trading service, electronic, or online trading systems cannot specify a particular market center for execution.*

Customer Order Protection Disclosure

We have in place effective internal controls, including information barriers, to prevent the sharing of order information among our equity trading desks. As a result, each of our equity trading desks independently conducts its trading activities. To the extent permitted by rule or law, when a trading unit, (e.g., including a market making desk which engages in block positioning and provides firm bid/offer quotes) handles your equity orders, other Merrill Lynch equity trading units may separately transact – without knowledge of your orders – for their principal accounts at prices that would satisfy your orders. Similarly, if your orders are handled by another of our equity trading units and no attempt is made to obtain liquidity for your orders from the market making desk, you should understand that the market making desk may separately transact – without knowledge of your orders – for its principal at prices that would satisfy your orders. The equity trading desks’ or market making desk’s execution prices could be better, the same, or worse than the prices you receive for the same security.

Residual Balance Processing for Closed Accounts

If you close your ICMA[®], CMA[®] or Individual Investor Account and there is a residual balance of less than $1, Merrill Lynch will not mail you a check. This policy is designed to reduce the costs and inconvenience of mailing checks for small balances. Merrill Lynch aggregates residual balances of under $1 arising in closed accounts and contributes these amounts to charity.

Margin Risks Disclosure Statement

If you borrow funds from Merrill Lynch to purchase securities, Merrill Lynch's collateral for the loan will be the securities purchased, other assets in your margin account, and your assets in any other accounts at Merrill Lynch or any of its affiliates.

If the securities in your margin account decline in value, so does the value of the collateral supporting your loan, and, as a result, we can take actions, such as issue a margin call and/or sell securities or other assets in any of your accounts held with us, in order to maintain the required equity in the account.

It is important that you fully understand the risks involved in trading securities on margin. These risks include the following:

- You can lose more funds than you deposit in the margin account.
- We can force the sale of securities or other assets in your account(s).
- We can sell your securities or other assets without contacting you.
- You are not entitled to choose which securities or other assets in your account(s) are liquidated or sold to meet a margin call.
- We can increase our "house" maintenance margin requirements at any time and are not required to provide you advance written notice.
- You are not entitled to an extension of time on a margin call.

Limits on Foreign Ownership of Certain Communications, Maritime and Aviation Issues

Certain laws impose restrictions on foreign ownership of certain communications, maritime, aviation and other specialized businesses. These restrictions limit the foreign ownership of securities in these industries to a percentage of the outstanding shares.

If Merrill Lynch is notified that the percentage of foreign ownership for a particular issue exceeds the predetermined limit based on the Depository Trust Company's allocation process, Merrill Lynch will identify the last shares purchased by a customer and may need to liquidate the position causing the overage. Reasonable efforts will be made to contact the affected customer or customers in advance of the liquidation.

A current list of the impacted issues can be found on the Depository Trust Company website at:

Loan Management Account Proceeds Usage Reminder

The Loan Management Account® (LMA® Account) provides a convenient line of credit for clients to meet their liquidity needs. It's important to insure that all LMA Account loans are used in accordance with LMA loan documents and applicable law and regulations.

Each LMA Account is designated as either a: Purpose Loan, which may be used to purchase marketable securities or to repay debt incurred to purchase marketable securities; or a Non-purpose Loan, which may not be used to purchase marketable securities or to repay debt incurred for such purposes. The designation of Purpose or Non-purpose is made at account opening on a federal form included in the LMA loan package. It's important to remember this designation and abide by the restrictions on Non-purpose Loans when using your LMA Account.

Non-purpose Loan proceeds, for example, must not be placed into a Cash Management Account® (CMA® account) or any other securities account to cover a pending securities trade, place a new trade or repay margin debt. This restriction applies whether the funds are placed directly into the securities account for this purpose or cycled into the securities account from another account.

In addition, certain restrictions apply to the use of LMA Loan Proceeds whether the account has been designated as Purpose or Non-Purpose. LMA Loan Proceeds should not be used:

- For any unlawful purpose
- To fund insurance purchases or subsequent premium payments for fixed or variable insurance products¹ made through or arranged by your Merrill Lynch Financial Advisor and sold through Merrill Lynch or its affiliates.
- To purchase precious metals, including allocated units through the Merrill Lynch Physical Precious Metals Program.
- To finance or refinance any campaign related activities or any other political purpose, including without limitation, the repayment of debt incurred as part of any political campaign.
 - "Political Household" is any household that includes (i) a candidate for, or holder of, federal, state or local elective office, or (ii) any political party and/or political action committee.
- To benefit an affiliate of Bank of America, N.A., including to repay debt owing to Merrill Lynch, Pierce Fenner & Smith Incorporated or to fund termination or collateral calls on derivative transactions with Merrill Lynch.
- In violation of applicable rules and restrictions applicable to non-resident clients.

Your Financial Advisor can help you gain an understanding of the limitations and guidelines described above, as well as help you confirm your LMA account's designation.
